ABSTRACT: The legal basis of EU environmental policy is established by Articles 174 to 176 of the EC Treaty<sup>1</sup>, plus articles 6 and 95. Article 174 sets out the objectives of environmental policy and has the purpose to ensure a high level of environmental protection taking into account the diversity of situations in different regions of the European Union. In Romania, Environmental Law<sup>2</sup> proposes a series of objectives which can be achieved only through the formation of well-trained professional specialists who can carry out its requirements. We considered it useful to conduct a SWOT analysis regarding technical environmental education performed at “Petru Maior” University of Tîrgu-Mureș for training specialists with relevant expertise and able to implement legal requirements concerning environmental policies.
